Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

- 1. Reference is made to the following document/s/:
 - D1: GB-A-1 361 448 (PRINS NV;HOLLANDSE BOUWCOMBINATIE HOLLA) 24 July 1974 (1974-07-24)
 - D2: US-A-5 809 721 (ANTROPIUS JEAN DANIEL) 22 September 1998 (1998-09-22)
 - D3: US-A-5 056 348 (GRAY CHARLES R ET AL) 15 October 1991 (1991-10-15)
 - D4: EP-A-0 129 416 (ROBERTSON UK LTD H H) 27 December 1984 (1984-12-27)
 - D5: GB-A-2 195 680 (QUIKSPAN CONSTRUCTION LIMITED;UNIV SOUTHAMPTON) 13 April 1988 (1988-04-13)
- 2.1. The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 (and 2) does not involve an inventive step in the sense of Article 33(3) PCT.

The document D1 is regarded as being the closest prior art to the subject-matter of claim 1, and discloses (the references in parentheses applying to this document):

a profiled steel decking (1, fig. 1) which comprises a roll formed steel sheet defining several crests and throughs (2) separated by inclined webs (3) and having boundaries between the webs (3) and the crests (2) which are radiussed to define corners each having a smooth curvilinear profile.

The subject-matter of claim 1 therefore differs from this known profiled steel decking in that the radius of said corners is between 15 and 30mm.

The problem to be solved by the present invention may therefore be regarded as selecting a radius which does not lead to a too high deformation and weakening of the corner zones.

The selected radius range of claim 1 (and claim 2) cannot be considered as involving an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT), as the values of said ranges are obvious for the man skilled in the roll forming of steel sheets. The skilled person would, without the exercise of inventive skill, consider selecting a radius value within said ranges in order to control the deformation of the corner zones.

Moreover, D2 (fig. 1A and 1B) shows a detail of the corner zone of such a steel decking and D3 (fig. 15 and 16) discloses the roll forming process of such a steel decking. From these documents it is clear that the corner zones of such a steel decking have a smooth curvilinear profile. There is no indication that the radius ranges disclosed in claim 1 and 2 fall outside the radii which a skilled person would consider when producing such a roll formed steel sheet.

2.2. Dependent claims 3-14 do not contain any features which, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of inventive step, see documents D4 and D5 and the corresponding parts cited in the search report.
